ABOUT ME

With 2+ years of dedicated experience in frontend development, I specialise in crafting seamless and user-centric digital experiences. My experience revolves around leveraging leading-edge technologies such as React, TypeScript, NextJS, TailwindCSS, and Storybook to engineer responsive and high-quality interfaces.

My commitment to staying ahead of emerging technologies, coupled with a fascination for the potential of AI in web development, fuels my continuous exploration of industry trends. My approach is characterised by self-driven learning methods and a proactive mindset, enabling me to take ownership of tasks, swiftly adapt to industry shifts, and seamlessly integrate within dynamic team environments.

I am excited about new challenges and opportunities that allow me to continue expanding my skill set and contributing meaningfully to innovative projects in the realm of frontend development. My goal is to continually enhance my expertise while delivering impactful solutions in a dynamic and collaborative environment.
